Abstract

A system and method for processing an overrun in the encoding of an input bitstream are described. In one embodiment, an overrun in the encoding of an input bitstream is determined and the severity of the overrun is determined. Finally, a current frame is encoded using a catch-up mode to process the overrun.